

Shannon Switching Game: Road Trip Across the Country

It is time for a vacation to Disneyland! Suppose that a person starts their road trip from Blacksburg, VA (blue dot) and concludes their trip in Anaheim, Ca (red dot). As you prepare for your trip, a construction company prepares to start construction on your planned routes. Decide who is the traveler and who works for the construction company. Color the lines the traveler has gone through and cross out the lines the construction company started construction on.

Can the traveler reach the destination before all routes are cancelled? Is the outcome the same when you alternate who goes first?
